

LOS ANGELES CONFIDENTIAL™

DINING,
ENTERTAINING &
PARTYING WITH THE
A-LIST

SNEAK PEEK
SPRING'S SEXIEST LOOKS
HIT THE STREETS OF LA

COZY UP TO
DONATELLA VERSACE
JONATHAN LETHEM
COLIN COWIE
JEFF KLEIN &
LAURA ZISKIN

EXCLUSIVE!
FOREST WHITAKER

GETS THE ROYAL TREATMENT

MARCH 2007

$6.95
0 3 >

7 25274 56610 3

www.la-confidential-magazine.com

NICHE MEDIA, LLC

PLUS!
CONTRIBUTORS

COLLEEN BELL
RIKKI KLIEMAN
LYNDA RESNICK
IRENJA MEDAVOY &
LINDA THOMPSON

82

GIMME SHELTER
Dr. 90210's Dr. Robert Rey lets his family life go to the dogs.

86

POWER PLAYERS
Andrew Sasson lives it up in Las Vegas.

LOS ANGELES CONFIDENTIAL

- 50 Letter from the Editor
- 52 Letter from the Publishers
- 54 Contributors

SIZZLE

- 63 GYM DANDY Century City execs are going to look better and feel more pampered than ever, now that the new Equinox superym is opening its doors.
- 64 THE LIST Forget whatever names you pored over in The Name Book. Give your newborn or script character a truly distinguished moniker from our mystery list of fabulous people.
- 66 SOCIETY BYTES The acting's been acted and the ballots have been cast. All we can do is wonder whose dreams Oscar will grant.
- 68 SOAPBOX A spoonful of idiocy makes the presidency go down in history as a big ol' goose egg. What to do? How about build a big honking library?
- 70 COURTSIDE Unregistered guns kill far too many people. So what are you doing to get them off the streets?
- 72 DOS & DONTS Look at your closet...

- 76 SISTER ACT Suzanne and Jennifer Todd engage in a little wordplay, and offer an alphabet's worth of award-worthy luxuries.
- 78 IN BLOOM Editor at Large Rebecca Bloom takes an art-filled romp through the country, and finds some of the most inspiring offerings right here in town.
- 80 WHAT I KNOW Talking coffeemakers, toothbrushes, and dashboards.... Lovely they may be, but advances in technology are giving us grey hair!
- 82 GIMME SHELTER Dr. 90210's Robert Rey doesn't just make breasts and lips look heavenly, he enhances the lives of animals in need, alongside his wife, Hayley.
- 86 POWER PLAYERS Get to know an over-the-top collection of big shots—producers, directors, really bigwigs, restaurateurs, and CEOs. Hoo, doggie!
- THE SOCIETY PAGES
- 102 CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS Hunky

- handyman Carter Oosterhout known for supercharging the of design-impaired America.
- 104 TRADING SPACES Shows off his Midwestern charm for Cheryl.
- 104 WORLD VIEW Listen up, neighbors.... Colleen Bell is not am honking, bass-bumping, and c
- 104 WASHINGTON HEIGHTS skin sallow? Dried out like an Unfragrant? Try Endermology a glow like Pauletta Washing
- 106 SOUTHERN BELLE OK, be a celebrity-focused magaz least we can live with ourselv Thompson muses about some up people, much worse than
- 108 MIND OVER MATTER Does have that "not so fresh" feeling Kathy Freston cleanse your pri
- 108 LIFE IS GOOD Sometimes perspective is all you need to g on life. Cynthia Garrett explain
- 110 THE DISCOVERY The styl ladies behind Kaviar and Kin close and personal with Irena M

What's Up, Doc?

Dr. Robert Rey, best known for Dr. 90210 on E! Entertainment Television, proves he knows plenty about inner beauty, as he and wife Hayley crusade to protect animals in need. BY DEBORAH CORDAY AND DREW SELTZER

LAC: I think it's safe to say that the majority of your practice is dedicated to helping people achieve their goals in the quest for external beauty and perfection. In your personal life, you so willingly open up your heart and home to animals that are emotionally scarred and less than perfect. Is there a correlating factor between your professional work and your work at home?

DR. ROBERT REY: One of the driving forces of the show is to make the public aware that in the midst of a frou-frou town, true beauty must start from within. Because of this, I am very careful as to whom I operate on. It's my belief that the way one achieves external beauty is by an accumulation of good deeds. Reaching out and helping God's creatures is a sure way to build eternal beauty.

LAC: Dr. Rey, you've impressed the public with your generous pro bono work—most recently changing the life of an immigrant worker with a cleft palate who could barely speak. Hayley, you and your daughter, Sydney, recently donated clothes as well as your time to Goodwill. Does this relate to your compassion in regard to adopting and rehabilitating homeless animals?

RR: First of all, Hayley is a woman who truly practices what she preaches. She regularly combs the shelters and the Internet her favorite website being [petfinder.com] searching for the most tragic cases—ones that hardly have a shot at survival, let alone being adopted.

HAYLEY REY: We're fortunate enough to be in a position to help out the more desperate cases, the ones that are in need of extensive medical care. Most recently we adopted Trinket, a Chihuahua with a severe case of mange. The poor thing had lost almost all her hair, but now she's well on the road to recovery. Our other adopted Chihuahua, Gherkin, has a stage-four luxating patella, can only use three of her legs, and was on the red list to be put down at a city shelter—so of course we took her in! She will be having surgery later this month, and there's a 98 percent chance that she'll be walking on all four legs again soon.

LAC: Hayley, as far as your personal life is concerned, we hear that Dr. Rey really pursued you.... Would this relationship have had a chance if the good doctor didn't share your love of animals?

HR: On our first date, I made it very clear that I was planning on dedicating my life to the care and well-being of animals and had no intention of getting married. After learning that Robert was planning to become a veterinarian, I decided to be more open-minded about the possibility.

LAC: You make a strong point of raising your children with healthy values. Is adopting companion animals an example of that practice?

HR: I think it's our generation's duty to teach the next generation how very important adopting is, versus buying from a pet store or breeder. Children should be raised to understand that animals are not property, but a part of the family, and should be treated as such. There are countless abandoned animals out there in need of homes. Our daughter, Sydney, is just six years old and plans on becoming a veterinarian. I already hear her talking to her friends about how crucial it is to rescue animals. I do my best to impress upon the children that life isn't always like this and that it may not stay like this, so while we have the media's attention, it's our responsibility to educate the public about spaying, neutering, and in general, care and respect for animals.

LAC: Dr. Rey, as a native Brazilian, how do you feel about some other cultures' understanding of animals?

RR: I find that third world countries' ideas are lagging behind in regard to the respect and treatment of animals. Unfortunately, in my country, homeless dogs are running rampant. There are so many undiagnosed diseases in South America that haven't even made it into textbooks—meanwhile, while we were there, Hayley was hugging and kissing every dog she came close to.

LAC: What statement would you like to leave our readers with?

RR: After around 10,000 years of civilization, it makes sense that the last step of civilizing ourselves is the emancipation of animals. ★