DUMP YOUR RUMP AND GET ONE LIKE J.LO'S

Plastic surgeons are barraged with requests for bigger bottoms

FORGET buns of steel. More and more American women are going under the knife to get a big "bootyful" backside like Jennifer Lopez! Style experts have declared that bottoms are the new bosoms and J.Lo's posterior has replaced Pamela Anderson's boobs as the ideal feminine feature.

And thousands of ladies agree.

L.A. plastic surgeon Dr. Robert Rey says he's deluged with requests from patients who want to look like J.Lo from behind. And in most cases, the bigger the caboose, the better!

"We have a range of sizes," the doc chuckles. "But no one chooses small."

The procedure involves making an incision where the butt meets the thigh on each leg and then inserting semisolid silicone implants.

Optician Laura Ramos, 27, happily paid the $8,000 to have her curves surgically enhanced and is delighted with the result.

"I was self-conscious about my backside and it became a real problem. I could never find the right clothes to wear," she told a British newspaper. "I feel like a different woman," she says. "Now I can wear skirts that show off my shapely butt."
